

D. NACE LISTED CHIMNEY ENGINEERS

The National Association of Chimney Engineers (NACE) is a trade association for chimney engineers and operates a registration scheme for companies involved in the construction, lining and repair of chimneys. The objective of the scheme is to provide a register of specialist contractors to ensure that the general public requiring work to be carried out on a chimney or flue can be put in touch with a company competent to carry out the work.

Companies applying for membership are inspected whilst carrying out the types of work for which they wish to become registered and have to satisfy the NACE inspector that a level of knowledge on the subject and the regulations has been obtained and that they are competent to carry out this work. HETAS Ltd. independently assesses and supervises this NACE scheme.

Companies are registered in any of the following categories of work:

- a) The installation of NACE Cast in-situ Concrete Lining System.
- b) The installation of stainless steel linings suitable for gas, oil, and solid fuel.
- c) The lining and construction of chimneys using rigid sectional liners.
- d) The construction of prefabricated chimney systems.

The following provides a list of companies registered as members of NACE for 2009, (HETAS information list updated to date given below), together with the categories for which they are registered. A list of Associate Members of NACE from within the chimney product industry is also given. These associate companies do not meet the HETAS/NACE scheme requirements for registration.

For information on the members please contact the National Association of Chimney Engineers at the following address:
